Hospital Welcomes

Family Practice Physician Stephen Clingman, M.D. to Hoopeston

Gibson Area Hospital would like to welcome Family Practice Physician Dr. Stephen Clingman to the Hoopeston Community.

"I look forward to providing comprehensive, cutting-edge medical care to any person of any age with any problem," explained Dr. Clingman. "I want to provide a place where people can come with their questions and concerns about their health and get the answers and compassion that they want and need. Plus, I want to provide a place where all generations of a family can see the same doctor, every time."

He added that when a person is not feeling well, driving a long distance can be uncomfortable and sometimes impossible. Local care is the best way to get what you need, when you need it.

GAHHS CEO Rob Schmitt said, "We are pleased to have Dr. Clingman joining our Hoopeston Clinic. He brings excellent credentials and a great attitude to the clinic. He will be a great addition to Dr. Lee, as well as eventually taking over when Dr. Lee retires."

"I prefer to practice in a small town where I can get to know everyone and their families, and they can get to know me and my family," said Dr. Clingman. "I grew up in a small town in Ohio and have always loved small town life."

Dr. Clingman and his family, wife Diane, children, Joshua (8), Ethan (7), Philip and Betsy (5) will live in Hoopeston.

Dr. Clingman has a special interest in treating children with developmental disorders of any kind, as his 7-year-old son has autism.

GIBSON GETS IT

Radiologist Dr. John Kirkpatrick Joins Medical Staff

Gibson Area Hospital & Health Services is proud to announce the arrival of a new member to its medical staff. Dr. John Kirkpatrick joins the organization as the staff radiologist. Dr. Kirkpatrick joined the hospital in February.

“I am pleased to come to Gibson City and to be a part of this hospital,” Dr. Kirkpatrick said.

GAHHS Director of Radiology Brian Lozier said, “With the addition of Dr. Kirkpatrick, GAHHS can now provide more comprehensive imaging services for the needs of our patients and physicians. Dr. Kirkpatrick offers a wealth of experience to imaging services at GAHHS.”

Prior to Dr. Kirkpatrick’s arrival at Gibson Area Hospital, he practiced in Sturgis, MI. Dr. Kirkpatrick brings with him more than thirty years of experience in his field and a tremendous amount of knowledge. He feels that the wide scope of services offered by the hospital is a perfect match for his skills.

Dr. Kirkpatrick added, “Gibson Area Hospital offers the latest technology in CT, MRI, Ultrasound, Nuclear Medicine, and Fluoroscopy.”

These diagnostic capabilities are very well suited with the skills that Dr. Kirkpatrick has previously brought to the Sturgis, MI area, as well as Milwaukee, WI before that.

Dr. Kirkpatrick continued, “The transition to Gibson City has been a very easy and pleasant change in my life.”

Lozier added, “The imaging staff at GAHHS is excited to further enhance patient care at GAHHS with the addition of a radiologist.”

Hospital Welcomes Family Practice Physician Stephen Clingman, M.D.

He is very excited to work for a hospital that offers such comprehensive care.

“It is unusual to find such an advanced hospital in a small community like Gibson City,” said Dr. Clingman. “The community is truly blessed to have such an excellent hospital in their own backyard. I continue to be impressed with the excellence that I’ve found with everyone I have met associated with Gibson Area Hospital.”

“I look forward to seeing Hoopeston continue to grow in its community strength and closeness,” said Dr. Clingman. “I will do what I can to add to the wonderful experience of living in Hoopeston, as my kids, wife and I participate in all that Hoopeston has to offer.”

Dr. Clingman received his medical degree from University of Cincinnati College of Medicine and completed his residency at St. Mary’s Medical Center. He received a bachelor’s degree in chemistry and pre-medicine from Malone College and graduated Magna Cum Laude.

When Dr. Clingman has free time, he enjoys reading and watching science fiction movies, playing video, board and card games; plus he likes to watch movies and play with his kids.

Dr. Clingman’s office is located at 837 E. Orange Street in Hoopeston. He is now accepting patients. To make an appointment, call 217-283-5530.

Hospital Names Dennis Herzig as Chief Financial Officer

Gibson Area Hospital welcomes Dennis Herzig at its Chief Financial Officer (CFO).

“We were looking for someone with a lot of healthcare experience who could come in and provide financial oversight as we continue to meet the needs of our patients and communities,” said GAHHS CEO Rob Schmitt. “Dennis comes with that experience. We were also looking for someone who could mentor Mike Meunier, who served as our Interim CFO. Again, Dennis fits the bill. I also want to thank Mike Meunier for serving as our Interim CFO. It provided him with a glimpse of what’s to come down the road. He did a great job as our Interim.”

Herzig brings over 38 years of experience in healthcare finance. He is a Fellow in the Healthcare Financial Management Association, the nation’s leading professional society for healthcare leaders. He received his undergraduate degree from Southern Illinois University in Edwardsville and his master’s degree in Business Administration with specializations in Healthcare Administration and Accounting from Washington University in St. Louis.

Herzig is hopeful that he can contribute to the continued improvement of the financial performance of the hospital, while maintaining or improving on the high levels of patient and employee satisfaction.

“I look forward to working with members of the GAHHS Administrative Team,” said Herzig, “as well as working with the other hospital employees in attaining these results.”

Herzig was very impressed with CEO Rob Schmitt and the other members of the administrative team, as well as the strong community support for the hospital.

“I was very impressed with the pool of talent on the medical staff and the excellent equipment used in the hospital,” said Herzig. “It appears that Gibson Area Hospital has all of the right pieces to continue to meet or exceed the healthcare expectations of the community for some time into the future.”

He will live in Gibson City, but still will maintain his home in New Baden.

“Having two sons and a nephew at the University of Illinois, Gibson City is close enough for me to visit them on occasion and only a three hour drive to or from New Baden,” explained Herzig. “Gibson City appears to be a wonderful place to live, not too unlike where my wife, Dianne, and I have been living and/or working for the past 16 years.”

In Herzig’s spare time, he likes to work around the house doing various remodeling projects or just keeping up with the work in the yard. He also enjoys playing an occasional round of golf.

“Dianne and I are big St. Louis Cardinal fans and usually attend a number of games each year,” said Herzig. “I know that admitting this in Central Illinois can be a little tricky with a number of Cub fans in the area.”

He and Dianne enjoy spending time with family, including an occasional weekend with their grandkids sleeping over. They also take at least one trip annually to beautiful upstate New York to visit with Dianne’s family.

Sorry it has taken us so long to get this ‘thank you’ said, but as we all know, life has a way of getting in the way sometimes.

We can’t say thanks enough for the more than excellent care my husband and I both received from the staff in the emergency room at Gibson Area Hospital and the staff on that Flight for Life helicopter in the early morning of October 11, 2009.

My husband had cancer and doctored in Champaign and Barnes in St. Louis, so when he took a turn for the worse and could not breathe at 12 a.m. on Sunday morning, I called Champaign and was told to bring him to their emergency room.

I soon realized that he could not make it to Champaign so I drove into Gibson City for help in that emergency room.

Early in my husband’s treatment at Barnes in St. Louis, I had been told by doctors there to talk to the emergency room where I may have to take my husband as he is a stem cell transplant patient and needs certain care most hospitals in our area are not equipped to offer.

I did exactly that and spent about an hour one day talking to Joann Brake, the head of the emergency room in Gibson City. She was very easy and pleasant to talk with. She thanked me for giving them a heads up in case my husband would ever be brought in there.

As she told me, by doing this I was giving them advance information that would help them with his care and would make them more prepared for him should the need arise. Well it did arise.

When I got him to the emergency room, he could not breathe. Upon helping me get him inside, a nurse asked me his name and from that point on the whole team in ER took action.

From the doctor on call right on down, everyone seemed to know what had to be done and did it without hesitating.

Things took a turn for the worse for my husband, but they kept trying and did manage to turn him around enough to transfer him.

The ER staff suggested that in my husband’s condition it would be better to call the Flight for Life helicopter and fly him to St. Louis.

They made that call, called St. Louis and got everything set up to take him upon arrival there. The helicopter crew arrived, got him ready to go and took off. They were so professional and caring with him, my son and I both knew he was in very good hands. In fact, one of the crew took my son’s cell phone number and told him they would keep in touch with us as we drove to St. Louis and they would keep us informed.

Upon my husband’s arrival at Barnes in St. Louis, one of the helicopter crew member called us on the road to tell us they had arrived, explained his condition and where we would find my husband when we arrived.

Things went from really bad to good only because of the initial care my husband received at Gibson Area Hospital’s emergency room.

We are so lucky to have this hospital. People can say what they want about a small hospital, but let us tell you, from our experience this emergency room is better than any others we have had to experience with my husband and his condition.

One thing I would tell any of you reading this is that if you or if you have a loved one that has a condition that may be different than something a small hospital may run into, please take the time to talk to them at Gibson Area Hospital.

Just that little effort on your part may save your life or the life of a loved one.

So to all of you that worked the emergency room that early Sunday morning on October 11, we are sorry we did not get your names, but I know you know who you were, my husband and I say thank you from the bottom of our hearts and God bless you.

Dr. David Hagan Appointed as GAHHS Chief Medical Officer & President-Elect for the IAFP

David Hagan, MD at the podium during the 2009 IAFP All Member Assembly on Dec. 6, 2009 in Oak Brook after being elected president-elect of the Academy.

Dr. David Hagan was appointed as Gibson Area Hospital's (GAH) Chief Medical Officer (CMO). As the hospital's CMO, he collaborates with administration and provides an additional perspective on healthcare issues.

In addition to his new CMO responsibilities, he is also the President-Elect for the Illinois Academy of Family Physicians (IAFP). The IAFP is a professional medical society dedicated to maintaining high standards of family medicine representing 3,800 family physicians, residents and medical students.

"As the president-elect, I am able to aide in networking in the region and country," said Dr. Hagan. "I also meet with legislatures and beaurocrats to help make life better for the patients and physicians."

He has been on the IAFP board for three years and held the position of treasurer for two years. As on officer, Dr. Hagan travels to regional and state meetings where he learns ideas that he can incorporate in the IAFP. In 2011, Dr. Hagan will be the president of the association.

Hospital's John Currier Receives Lifetime Membership Award

John Currier, CPAM, was recognized for his service, dedication and commitment to the Illinois Chapter of the American Association of Healthcare Administrative Management (AAHAM) in Bloomington, Illinois with a Lifetime Membership Award.

Mr. Currier has been employed at Gibson Area Hospital & Health Services (GAHHS) as the Patient Financial Manager since July 2009.

“This award was a great surprise to me and is a true honor because in 29 years of Illinois Chapter of the American Association of Healthcare Administrative Management (ILAAHAM) there have only been four of us who have received the lifetime award,” said Mr. Currier.

The criteria for receiving a lifetime award from the ILAAHAM is based on the person’s dedication to not only the local chapter but to their career and their facility. It represents that person’s ability to be one of the top in their field and shows they take an active involvement in all areas of their profession. This person has demonstrated they have the ability and determination to be more than just active in all aspects of their job. They also need to be a visionary and look into other ways to improve their facility, community, and the AAHAM association as a whole.

The American Association of Healthcare Administrative Management is the premier professional organization in healthcare administrative management. AAHAM was founded in 1968 as the American Guild of Patient Account Management. Initially formed to serve the interests of hospital patient account managers, AAHAM has evolved into a national membership association that represents a broad-based constituency of healthcare professionals.

“I think anyone working in healthcare should belong to their profession’s state or national organizations,” said Mr. Currier. “I believe that continuing education is so important to our profession.”

AAHAM’s mission is to be the premier professional organization in health care administrative management. Through the national organization and local chapters, AAHAM provides quality member services and leadership in the areas of education, communication, representation, professional standards and certification.

The Certified Patient Account Manager exam is every bit as challenging for patient account managers as the CPA and bar exams are for their respective fields. Sitting for this eight hour exam takes commitment and dedication. That’s one of the reasons it is so prestigious in our industry. For over 25 years, the Professional Certification exam has set the standard of excellence in patient accounting. Mr. Currier received his CPAM certificate in 2008 and has been actively involved in the Illinois Chapter of AAHAM for 19 years. He has served as Illinois’ Membership Chair, Chapter President, and Chairman of the Board and was recently elected Treasurer for National AAHAM after serving two years on the National Board as Chapter Development Chair.

Mr. Currier and his wife Diane live in Gibson City and have four children and eight grandchildren.

Hospital Auxiliary Sponsors Art Contest to Promote Great American Smoke-Out

The Gibson Area Hospital (GAH) Auxiliary held an art contest for their Great American Smoke-Out. The Auxiliary received 345 student entries from 8 school districts in the GAH service area. The goal was to raise awareness of the dangers of smoking to students.

Auxiliary Coordinator Ann Spangler explained, “We hope that by participating in this contest, students were educated about the benefits of a smoke-free environment and may prevent them from picking up the habit themselves.”

Eight high schools, 8 middle schools and 16 elementary schools participated. The winner and first runner-up in each category had his/her artwork displayed on billboards around the GAH service area.

GAH Therapy Services & Sports Medicine Using New Technology for Therapy

Over the last few years, the popularity of the Wii video console has grown tremendously for its ease of use and interactivity. Now the Wii is incorporated into Gibson Area Hospital's Sports Medicine and Therapy Services actual therapy in Gibson City and in Paxton.

Assistant Director of Therapy Services and Sports Medicine Chad Vaughn explained, "We are using the Wii as an adjunct to our other programs and therapies we currently use in outpatient therapy and sports medicine. The Wii Fit allows us to make treatment a little more fun for patients that have balance and strength issues."

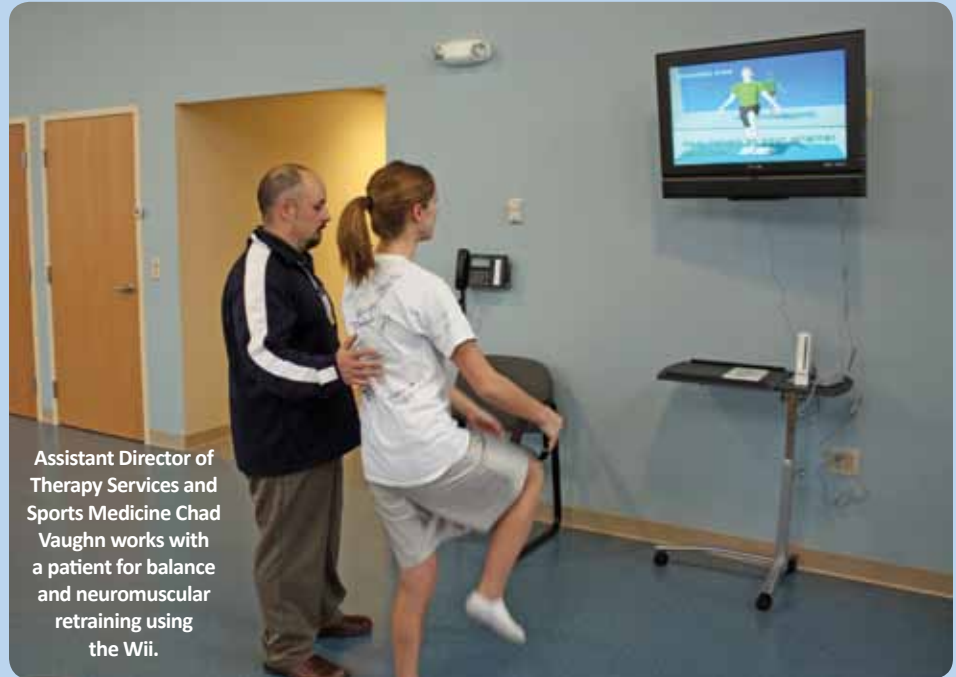

Vaughn added that all therapists, including physical therapy, occupational therapy and sports medicine, will use the Wii games as needed for patient treatment.

"The Wii is a great tool to use with patients who have balance issues for various reasons and can include post surgical patients, fall risk patients, and general balance deficit patients," said Vaughn. "The Wii Fit incorporates a balance platform and visual feedback, which are important tools in balance re-education. The gaming aspect makes the whole process more interesting and fun for the patient."

The therapists can use several Wii games that incorporate different components of health including aerobic training, strength training, yoga and fitness. All the games in therapy incorporate balance as a base for the exercise and includes several sports games, video games and even a simulated golf driving range that analyzes your golf swing.

Vaughn explained that the departments' future plans are to integrate the Wii as needed for patient treatment in both clinics. As technology changes, they may add games or accessories in the future.

For more information, please contact the therapy services department at 379-2500 or 784-2650.

Assistant Director of Therapy Services and Sports Medicine Chad Vaughn works with a patient for balance and neuromuscular retraining using the Wii.

The GAH Auxiliary has donated a Wii console and a Wii Fit Plus to the Paxton and Gibson City therapy locations for patient use.

Love Lights a Tree Fundraiser Raises Over $9,000

The GAH (Gibson Area Hospital) Auxiliary, in conjunction with GAH Foundation, raised $9,635.00 through the Love Lights a Tree fundraiser and celebration. This Christmas fundraiser offered people a way to purchase a meaningful Christmas gift in honor or memory of a person, plus support the hospital at the same time.

GAH Auxiliary Co-President Kathy Bennett said, "The Auxiliary is extremely gratified by the generous response of the contributors to this year's campaign. Equipment purchases like this one significantly improve the quality of patient care."

The money raised was donated to the OB department to be put toward a Cosy Cot Baby Warmer in the nursery. This warmer is used right after delivery and for smaller babies to increase their body temperature after birth.

RN Kim McCreary, OB Tech Karen Stevenson, OB & Med-Surg Director Dawn Merkle, stand next to the baby warmer that was recently purchased with help from the Love Lights a Tree donations.
