SPEAKER BIOS

Pam Allyn, RN, BSN, LCCE, IBCLC

Pam has worked in maternal-child health since 1975. Pam owned and directed Breastfeeding Support Consultants from 2005-2015 after serving as a BSC faculty member since 2002. From 1998 to 2016 Pam worked as a lactation consultant at Loyola University Medical Center in the Chicago area. She was the team lead as Loyola pursued and achieved the Baby-Friendly designation. She sat on the Trinity Health system perinatal steering team for policies and practices related to lactation.

Colleen Batt, MS, RD, IBCLC

Colleen worked in public health nutrition in the WIC program's early years in NC in 1977-1979. She became the WIC Coordinator in Tippecanoe County in 1989 and an IBCLC in 1990. Colleen developed the Tippecanoe Co. WIC Program making breastfeeding support a program priority and developed a staff trained to help mothers with breastfeeding. She has served on the National WIC Association (NWA) board of directors for five years and on the NWA breastfeeding committee.
